

Retirement Box of Salaries of Colombian Police strengthens its comprehensive social security model

- The new strategic model assures financial self-sustainability for its affiliates.

Bogotá, December 2017. In Expodefensa's sixth version, Retirement Box of Salaries of Colombian Police (Casur in Spanish) presents a new strategic model of excellence and innovation, which is orientated to the construction of its own social security pattern, focused on integral attention of social security and the development of the affiliates' activities, assuring its financial self-sustainability for the future based on the administration of their goods and services.

This evidences that they pass from a supported drawing in the assignments' payment and the perk of some well-being tasks, to one of innovation in matter of comprehensive social security.

"We've been working hardly in the development of new business units that will give form to the Casur project, an important corporation and a model in the field of service perk on comprehensive social security, built on real wishes", said Casur's general director, Brigadier General Jorge Alirio Barón Leguizamón.

Casur also stands out for taking care of the perk rights of police reserves; lending recognition services and payment of monthly assignments of retirement and substitutions; expeditions of documents and certifications of their affiliates' perk files (evidences, certificates of incomes and retentions); credit services; documents reception of the beginning of procedures for the access of Sanity Services of the Colombian Police.

In the same way, develops projects of social well-being in benefit of their affiliates as training, deals with universities and with other organizations of informal education, recreation, work programs, advisories in support topics and widows accompanying, legal, health, psychological and familiar actions.